Haute Déco

April 29, 2016

Haute Déco's Gems palette offers a collection of door jewelry in cabochon-polished colors replicating gemstones. The collection was inspired by the use of semi-precious stones to create fine everyday jewelry and adds elegant color accents to contemporary interiors. Colors include amethyst, aquamarine and smoky quartz, as well as Victorian-era favorites like peridot or citrine.

Gems handles are designed to complement the subtle, shimmering qualities of a luminous material developed by the company at its workshop in Southwest England. They are smooth to touch and extremely durable, and each handle is individually cast, shaped then hand-polished in multiple stages to achieve the softest texture with a rare glow. Some knobs in the collection involve cut-out incisions that are meticulously chased by hand before buffing.
