Fabrics, surfaces and finishing touches...

Off the wall

Building on its growing reputation for wallpapers, Farrow & Ball has added four new patterns to its collection. Printed with the brand's own water-based paint, our pick of the bunch is Parquet, above, a graphic take on the classic herringbone flooring design. Go for a subtle look with a tonal colourway, or high drama with a three-colour print. £105 per 10m roll (farrow-ball.com)

GLOSSY POSSE

As well as being high-performance and eco-friendly, the new line of non-toxic paints from Konig Colours offers a spectrum of bright and beautiful shades. You'd expect nothing less from interior design duo Vanessa and Jasper Galloway, who've launched the range with hues such as Bando Sky, left, and Conch Pink, right. From £44 for 4l (konigcolours.co.uk)

Big frills

Casamance's first foray into trimmings has resulted in two ranges designed to complement its fabrics. Named Islington and Isaphan, they offer a beguiling array of ways to give your upholstery and accessories some edge. From £12 per m (casamance.com)

Branch out

Thought shelf brackets were boring? Think again. Emery & Cie's handmade wrought-iron brackets will make a statement of your shelving, adding a whimsical look to walls instantly. Top with a raw-edged plank for extra woodland charm. Around £122 each (emeryetcie.com)

CHANGE OF LACE

Introducing a feminine twist to hardware, Haute Deco's new lace-embossed brass door furniture is made for the boudoir. We love the combination of sleek shapes with pretty surface patterns. Decorative yet not too girly, use them to spruce up a dressing table or plain wardrobe doors. Choose from a range of metallic finishes, including mirror polish, above left, and satin golden bronze, right. From £53 for a small cabinet knob (hautedeco.com)
