In Living Color

All creative fields turn to Pantone for its Color of the Year. 2019's winner, Living Coral (Pantone 16-1546), is perfect for our tropical locale where the ocean, and its abundant gifts, reign in the realm of design. Whether you wade in the shallows by using a subtle tone of this animated hue or dive deeper into a more saturated version, items showcasing this versatile shade of coral are sure to breathe life into your environment.

[1] ROCHE BOBOIS

Visually intriguing and delightfully quirky, the Pli chair, designed by Maurice Marty and constructed entirely out of Altuglas, is a head-turner no matter if it's placed as a set around a dining table or used as a stand-alone piece behind a desk or out in the open. $860; roche-bobois.com

[2] LIGNE ROSET

The Bonnie sofa is body-hugging iteration of a classic Pierre Paulin design from the 1970s that introduces high-performance foams and fabrics for added smoothness and comfort. $4,705; ligne-roset.com

[3] HAUTE DÉCO

Specializing in "door jewelry," London-based Haute Déco's elegant Cristalle doorknobs are smooth to the touch and luminous to the eye. Price upon request; hautedeco.com

[4] LUCEPLAN

With a respect for technology, as well as aesthetics, the Costanza Friends of Hue floor lamp designed by Paolo Rizzato connects to your smartphone via the Hue app, making it possible to customize your lighting to different colors of the spectrum depending on your needs or mood. $605; luceplanusa.com
