Haute Deco's Sensation door knobs are manufactured in the south-west of England by a small-scale atelier

Although the concept is the same, Sensation's Signature: the domineering factor being the pattern sculpted into the bronze element, with the translucent resin acting as a magnifier; it adds a fluid quality to the pattern, forming a contour-filled by reflections of the embedded metal.

With sphere-shaped designs, the prism effect operated by the crystal ball transforms the original bronze pattern beyond recognition, adding further to the mystery.

The collection consists of doorknobs and matching cabinet knobs in a myriad of textures and patterns. It is available in Haute Déco's trademark version of soft gold, in antique bronze and in nickel.
